Although the game's not entirely bad, there's a few issues with how the physics work. Some of the missions are hampered by the game's own mechanics.. Good quality and open world, but srsly, whoever made those missions should be fired... The graphics are IN NEED OF UPDATING. The AI people in the depot who share their stories are diverse in missions. Platform people seem to be having trouble entering train. Game playing seems sharp on some curves that even at 19mph it's too fast. Realistic feeling is good, having to control doors, lights and others from keyboard is a learning curve. Using a gaming laptop without numeric keyboard was a challenge until I just change controls to keys not already in use. No joy stick control available in this game "yet-hint hint".

I know this route; I grew up in NYC and rode the #7 train many times. It brought back many memories. Cab and other views are nice and since I'm using a laptop I had to test graphics setting to suit my playing experience. There was some "stuttering" but I un-ticked the AA box and it ran much smoother for me. The game is, as others have mentioned frame rate intensive. You can set the conductor's AI if you don't feel like switching back and forth from drivers to conductors cab. If doing so you have to line up train at platform for doors to open automatically.

I have had the game freeze, only to restart by power off/on button. Again, just lowered a setting in graphics. No crash report box appeared then. I did have two other crash issues in which a dialog box popped up where you can add your experience before the crash. Very convenient. Weather is another issue; rain and snow. Snow looks like driving through fog with snowflakes.

When things settled down after install, game ran well. I like the interaction. There is room for improvement and I hope they are listening.

. Before, my PC was running really fast, thinking this'd help, it actually broke it even more, deleted my driver data, i hate it, avoid at all costs.. I've only had a played about 90 minutes so far, but I intend to play a lot more! The game has been thoughtfully made and the general feel of the game is great. The submarine control felt slightly unusual to me at first, but I soon got used to this. I'd highly recommend giving the game a go, it's well worth it at this price!. I do not recommend this game for anyone over the age of 8. There is little to no challenge even on the highest difficulty, the voices are dreadfully squeaky and annoying and the music is barely tolerable. I bought this game for 29 cents and I still feel as if it was a complete waste of money.. Beatiful graphics (👉👉👉)*:👉👉👉. Player Bases.

Not Recommended at all!. I could have used about 1,000 more levels. It was cute. VERY short.

This is a fun multi-player online game. I remember first playing it at the Experience Music Project in WA. I wish it was more popular so it would be easier to find other people to play with online.. Hands down the best game i have ever played, I can't wait until they release a GOTY version. Space Invaders Clone with some Upgrades
This would be a fun waste of a few hours but....

LAAAAAAAAAGGGGGGGGGGGG
Gross.

<https://youtu.be/V10lUmjznU>. Good game but no unlimited mode?. A good enough point and click, would recommend to fans of the genre even if it is too adventure game-y and arbitrary at times. It kept me engaged for a good few hours.

What the in god's name was that ending though? Real talk.
I have no idea what the developers were thinking. Just because it still seems to be an issue with Negative Reviews.
